WOODBURN NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service.)

Woodburn, Ore., Feb. 12.—M. J. Lindahl is moving his stock of hardware and furniture to Monitor, where he will continue in business.

Miss Esther Berge is spending the week in Portland.

The Philothen society of the Presbyterian Sunday school held a social in the church Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served.

Miss Ruth Gilbertson, nurse at the Good Samaritan hospital, is the guest of Mrs. D. C. Cowler.

The Ravelin club was entertained Monday evening at the home of Miss Nettie Broyles. Five hundred was played. Miss Nora Beck received the first prize and Miss Sadie Richards the consolation. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Broyles.

Miss Gertrude Grassman entertained Monday evening in honor of Miss Iva Feller. A jolly time was spent in playing game after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. B. F. Hall was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital at Portland where she will undergo an operation. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Eunice Bonney, and Dr. Kettle.

J. W. Gavin, who has been taking treatments at the St. Vincent's hospital has returned home much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Maupin are visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Maupin.

Archie Engle and Leonard Roberts were Portland visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fisher were weekend guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Chas. Sterling, at Brownsville.

Miss Hazel Bitney is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Fred Yergler, at Donald.

N. J. Drew, of the Warren Construction company, of Portland, was the guest of J. W. Gavin Tuesday and Thursday.

St. Mary's Episcopal Guild met at the home of Mrs. T. C. Poorman Tuesday afternoon. After the business meeting was over the hostess served refreshments. Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Mrs. C. E. Wait and Mrs. J. Ray McKinney were additional guests.

Mrs. R. L. Guess was hostess to a few of her friends at her home Friday afternoon, where a very delightful time was spent in learning some of the new steps in dancing. Luncheon was served by the hostess. Those enjoying the afternoon were: Mrs. Chester Cox, of Salem; Mrs. C. W. Kent, Mrs. T. C. Poorman, Mrs. D. C. Cowles, Mrs. P. A. Livesley and Mrs. Ray McKinney.

Mrs. W. R. Cooper, of Portland, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hooser.

Paul Dose left the first of the week for California, where he will remain about two weeks looking after business interests.

Miss Ida Nehl is visiting friends in Portland this week.

Attorney Walter C. Koves, of Salem, was a Woodburn visitor Wednesday.

The members of the Ravelin club met at the home of Misses Madge and Mary Scollard Wednesday evening to make preparations for a dance to be given Monday, February 14. After the business meeting was over the girls enjoyed a sociable hour with music and conversation, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses. The club members present were: Miss Lois Beebe, Miss Nettie Broyles, Miss Sadie Richards, Miss Nora Beck, Miss Mary Scollard, Miss Nell Binkley, Miss Della Beck, Miss Lila Jerman, Miss Ethel Bonney, Miss Althea Bitney, Miss Madge Scollard and Miss Gladys Binkley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Coon, of Monitor, were in Woodburn Wednesday on business.

L. W. Guiss spent Wednesday in Portland.

Miss Ruth Swinderman was the weekend guest of Miss Kate Miller.

Miss Clara Guerne has reopened her millinery shop after a two weeks' vacation.

The W. P. M. S. of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Parr. There was a large attendance. A very interesting program was given with Mrs. D. S. Livesay as leader. Mrs. D. S. Livesay was made a life member.

A beautiful luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. W. H. Kesley left Tuesday for an extended visit with relatives and friends at Newport.

HO! ART LOVERS AND PICKPOCKETS!

GO STUDY THESE NEW STOCKINGS!

The lampshade stocking.

Since fashion now cuts the fair ones' skirts at lengths that make it unnecessary for curious males to wait for windy days to note hosiery innovations, observers will soon have the opportunity of being entranced at the vision of a dashing style in stockings—the 'Lampshade,' they call it.

Nothing new is claimed for the use of a stocking as a pocket. When Queen Isabella gave her jewels to Columbus she probably turned her back on him, hitched up her royal train a bit and then introduced the sparklers that were to send him on his way to fame. But the receptacle was just a stocking without any adjustments.

Now, however, comes a stocking bearing a pocket, with a flap and a clasp. Small change, powder puffs, chewing gum and shopping lists may be accommodated therein.

Mr. and Mrs. Taw have the best wishes of their many friends here for a long and prosperous married life. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Patterson and the happy couple left for a short visit in Portland. They will be, at home to their friends at 1065 North Cottage street, Salem, on their return from Portland.

Miss Beekie Branigan spent Sunday in Salem.

Tom Kennedy returned this week from Portland, where he has been for the past two weeks.

West Salem

Miss Dovie Rhodes went to Brooks Monday for a visit with her friend, Mrs. Fred Hamon.

There was a surprise dancing party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Moore on Saturday evening.

Mr. Andrew Nichols has returned to his home in Dayton after a 10 days' stay with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Brock, who was very ill but is now convalescent.

The Mark Siddall family, of East Salem, were recent overnight guests at the J. H. Eaton home.

West Salem was somewhat inconvenienced by the recent high water as the road at the approach to the bridge was overflowed but no water reached any part of the city, not even the basements.

Justice of the Peace F. L. Wood has been appointed registrar for West Salem and surrounding precincts. Registration has begun in earnest.

The city council met in regular session Monday evening. All members present. Earl Bushnell was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Geo. Gosser, who has removed from the city. A number of bills were presented and numerous than they would have imposed a year ago.

I can state most positively that so far as England is concerned peace at present is out of the question. This assertion is based not only on the statements of cabinet members and other public men but upon persistent inquiry among the common folks. The pro-peace element in England is a negligible quantity, confined to a few irreconcilables who have exposed the war from the start and who are practically without influence.

John Bull today is more determined than ever to see the thing through—and he is better prepared. He has quit speculating on the length of the war and has got down to business. He is not worried over what he regards as merely temporary successes of the enemy. He is confident he will win; and he would resent most bitterly any interference by outsiders.

What the French Think.

By William Phillips Simms, (Paris Manager of the United Press.)

Between France and the United States there exists a strange misunderstanding. Neither country appreciates the state of mind of the other nor grasps the full significance of what the other is fighting for.

This is one's impression following a trip through the east, west and south, made to get in touch with home conditions after being with the allies in France since the beginning of the war.

While officialdom seems to appreciate America's position fully the Frenchman-in-the-streets says "Americans are patient." You know by the way he says it that he thinks the United States stands for peace-and-making-lots-of-money-at-any-price; that the country is rolling in wealth, making and selling munitions and that in order to keep this state of affairs going, the nation will talk at almost nothing; that with Uncle Sam, dollars count before ideals, big business before prestige and character.

President Wilson, in his western speeches, made it plain that Colonel House or some of his other pulse-feelers in Europe had found this same thing true of Europe in general. On the other hand, one discovers few Americans who seem to realize the deadly earnestness of the French. I have been frequently asked what France thought of peace.

France is not thinking of peace and if you would insult a Frenchman, all you have to do is to suggest peace to him now.

"We did all we could honorably to have peace a year ago," he says. "Now peace can only come after we lick the Germans."

This is no bluff and bluster. He means it, every word. He says it quietly but with a sort of religious fervor in his voice, his jaws set, face grim and determined.

So don't misunderstand the Frenchman. His country is so tactically set on fighting it out to a victory—whether this takes months or years—that there is something in his determination that is almost weird.

ordered paid.

Mayor Geo. Frazure read his annual report and appointed committees for the ensuing year.

Treasurer Ernest Blue reported on the finances, showing a small balance in treasury.

The question of a high school for West Salem and nearby neighborhoods was discussed.

Hoquiam Denies Any Dislike for Pork

Hoquiam, Wash., Feb. 12.—A storm of protest has broken out here over the telegram sent to Congressman Albert Johnson, urging that $50,000 was sufficient for a postoffice and federal building in this city, and declaring that more would be considered as 'pork.'

A flood of telegrams have been dispatched to Johnson, all asking that the future growth of Hoquiam should be considered, and that the original amount, $125,000, be still urged on congress.
